

CEAUL - Centre of Statistics and its Applications

March 2022

(1467 characters including spaces)

FCiências.ID is a Non-Profit Private Association, created as a joint initiative of FCUL - a Higher Education institution - and 6 private companies, to support and potentiate Research and Development activities of its associates. FCIências.ID is the legal representative of 19 FCUL research centers, covering the all the fields of Sciences. FCUL, as the host institution of these centers, provides the overall scientific framework and logistic support to research activities.

The Centre of Statistics and its Applications (CEAUL), since its inception in 1975, represents the largest and strongest research group in Probability and Statistics operating in Portugal. CEAUL's members' activities span interdisciplinary research across diverse areas of basic and applied sciences, including Health, Life Sciences, Forest Fires, Ecology, Quality Control, Insurance and Financial Risk, Environment and Machine Learning.

CEAUL's mission is to: 1) conduct fundamental research in its areas of excellence and to keep up with the recent advancements in Statistical Science; 2) promote participation of its members in interdisciplinary national and international projects; 3) engage with the Society as a whole by giving technical support to Industry, Commerce, Services and Business; 4) provide advanced training via its PhD programs and to organize advanced courses in emerging areas within Statistical Science and 5) foster integration of talented young scholars in Science.